PRICE $1.00 A YEAR.

12TH ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT.

The twelfth annual commencement of Cedarville College took place Wednesday. The commencement exercises were held in the gymnasium with the alumni banquet that night.

The commencement exercises of Cedarville college opened with the music recital in charge of Mrs. Jessie Russell, as director. Wednesday evening. A delightful program was rendered in which the following students took part: Misses Verna Bird, Lounette Stierrett, The Shepherd, Beth Ervin, Mary Cooper, Martha Knott, Bessie Stierrett, Martha Anderson, Florence Russell, Alice Adams, Grace Beckley, Bertha Stormont and Della McCann. A vocal solo with violin obligato was rendered by Lounette and Walter Stierrett.

The Philopoeic and Philadelphian Literary Societies held joint diploma exercises for the graduates in the U. P. church Saturday evening. Diplomas were presented to Misses Carrie Finney and Bessie Stierrett and Messrs. Leroy Henderson, John Nash and Elmer Spahr, of the Philopoeic Society and to Miss Florence Russell of the Philadelphian Society. Declarations were rendered by Miss Josephine Orr and Mr. Frank Greenwell. Piano solos were played by Misses Belle Middleton and Grace Beckley, and Miss Nello Turnbull gave a vocal solo. The Rev. Wm. Wallace Hilt, of DeLafayette, N. Y., a member of the class of 1900, made the address of the evening. It was practical, eloquent and inspiring. A large audience was in attendance and heartily showed its appreciation of all the exercises.

The baccalaureate sermon was delivered in the U. P. church Sabbath evening by President McKinney. The church and its adjoining parlors were crowded. The class and faculty appeared in caps and gowns. The church was beautifully decorated with flowers and the class colors. By the juniors, who also served as ushers. The sermon emphasized the necessity of right living.

The Senior class gave one of the most unique and amusing class performances to a crowded house, Monday night, ever presented in Cedarville. A comedy and a farce were presented. The cast of characters in both plays was: Messrs. John Nash, Leroy Henderson, William Watt, Elmer G. Spahr, Ernest Foster and David J. Brigham and Misses Florence Russell, Carrie Finney and Julia Harrison.

Tuesday afternoon the ivy day exercises were held on the college campus. Leroy Henderson delivered the oration and Lloyd Confort the response. Prayer was offered by Rev. Wm. Graham of Yellow Springs.

The annual meeting of the Board of Trustees was held Tuesday at which time the years business was canvassed. A number of improvements have been made during the year. Miss Morris declined the professorship another year in the English and German branches. She has been at the head of this department for three years and was held in the highest esteem as a professor. Miss Smith, a graduate of Wooster University has been selected to fill the vacancy. Revs. W. W. Hilt of Delanson, N. Y., and Thomas R. Turner of Marissa, Ill., were elected as members of the Board of Trustees.

Getting Our Just Reward

In preparing remedies for minor ailments, usually treated without calling in the regular physician, we have always made it a rule to prepare honest remedies and to offer our customers only such remedies as we would use in our own family.

We have never tried to place a "Cure All" remedy before our customers as we do not believe that one remedy will cure everything. Neither do we think it honest or fair to our customers to represent to them that our remedies will do more than the family physician.

When we place one of our remedies before our customers they can rest assured that it has been tried and tested by a reliable family physician who has given it his endorsement.

Our remedies are intended for minor ailments usually treated without calling the physician.

Our remedies are the honest ones and we are perfectly willing at all times to tell what they contain.

...Isaac Mitterman...

It is expected that Memorial day will be celebrated in a very fitting manner Saturday. In the afternoon the address of the day will be delivered by Rev. W. W. Hilt of Delanson, N. Y.

Congressman M. R. Denver is scheduled to speak in Yellow Springs at the dedication of the large gun that day. It is expected that many from here and the surrounding country will hear the son of the famous General that day.

Preparations have been made for a large crowd. Congressman Denver secured the gun for the park in that cemetery at the edge of town.

Private Mrs. J. C. Davis, to this city Tuesday, and caused his arrest at the Pennsylvania depot by Patrolman Riley.

"Bryan had nothing to say, but Mrs. Bryan said: 'He did not steal so much only it is the principle of the thing. Now we don't want anything in the paper about this. If things that everything that Mr. Bryan does is made so much of in the paper.'"

"But you should be used to newspaper notoriety by this time," suggested the reporter.

"We will never get used to it."

It is upon the foregoing statement which is taken from the Times-Star of May 15, that the millionaire bases his claims.

DENVER RE-NOMINATED.

Wednesday and Thursday were turned over to the Democrats by the people of Kansas in honor of the Democratic congressional convention. At the gathering were many notables of the party, Judson Harmon, candidate for governor, being present.

On Wednesday reception was tendered Congressman Denver and Judge Harmon at the Florence Hotel. It had been planned to have some speaking but so eager were the visitors to meet these distinguished men personally all formalities were dispensed with. The reception was not partisan and republicans took an active part in entertaining the guests.

After Mr. Denver was nominated by H. N. Schlessinger, who in a rousing speech declared that Denver was too great a man morally, physically and politically to have any "Jamestown Tag," take his measure, the Congressman was brought forth. Although only in Congress since last March, Mr. Denver has secured many private pension bills, lacking only, as all his predecessors have secured in the past seven years, is an enviable record.

The convention was the largest ever held in the district and the crowd is said to have outnumbered the recent farmers' gathering in that city when Jesse Taylor of Jamestown was candidate the political sea to survive a perilous.

Another chapter in the life of John Bryan, the millionaire farmer of Yellow Springs, has been opened with another run at publicity.

In his latest attack he appears as plaintiff in a suit against the Times-Star, an afternoon newspaper of Cincinnati, in which he asks for damages amounting to $50,000 because of alleged defamation of character.

It is upon the foregoing statement which is taken from the Times-Star of May 15, that the millionaire bases his claims.

GRAFT CHARGES ARE SUSTAINED.

The alleged charges of graft against J. H. Andrew and S. C. Wright have been sustained by State Examiner, S. C. Young, who finds that both have drawn money out of the village treasury illegally.

From Mr. Young's report to Hon. W. D. Gilbert, auditor of state, we take the following information:

The different departments were examined and every thing found in good shape. The funds are deposited in the local bank and at that time amounted to $1,700.85. A certificate from the bank shows all money to be properly accounted for.

There is no bonded indebtedness on the corporation.

The receipts of the mayor's office have been properly turned over to the village treasurer.

In going over the old council's record a illegal payment was made to B. E. McFarland for coal. The various items totaled $97.33 covering a period from Dec. 3, 1905 to Dec. 2, 1907. The report states: "The above payments made to B. E. McFarland were for coal furnished by Andrew Bros., of which J. H. Andrew, councilman, was a member. All the above payments were in contravention of Sec. 45 M. C. which provides: 'Nor shall any member of council, board, officer or commissioner of the corporation have any interest in the expenditure of money on the part of the corporation other than his fixed compensation.'"

Two items amounting to $5.75 were charged against Mr. Wright. No criticism falls on Mr. McFarland as he was only acting agent for Andrew Bros., to evade the law on the part of J. H. Andrew. During the two years covered in the examination Andrew Bros., furnished all the coal not one of the other dealers in town being recognized.

While the examination did not cover the entire time that J. H. Andrew drew money indirectly for coal the same practice has been in use for years. Had the examiner gone back the amount charged against Andrew would run up to several hundred dollars.

Readers will remember the turtle story published two or three years ago. At that time William Cheney found a turtle on the John K. Bradford farm that he had previously found in 1882. At that time Mr. Cheney carved his name and date on the shell and it was by this means that he identified the land tortoise. After finding the turtle on the Bradford farm it was brought to this office where it was kept for several days. Not being desirous of keeping it captive longer it was given its freedom on the Yellow Springs pike and had never been located until last Thursday. Mr. Cheney was lucky for the third time in finding the turtle but on the Clarence McKillan farm. It is still enjoying its freedom.

Are You Sick?

Much sickness is due to a weak nervous system. Yours may be. If it is, you cannot get well until you restore nerve strength. Your nervous system is nature's power house; the organs of your body get their power from it. If the power is not there, the action of the organs is weak, and disease (sickness) follows. Dr. Miles' Nerve cures the sick because it soothes the irritated and tired nerves and gives the system a chance to recuperate. Try it, and see if you do not quickly feel its beneficial effect.

THE AGE OF CHIVALRY.

It is New Rather Than in the Days of Knights Errant.

When we speak of the age of chivalry we are apt to imagine the existence at an earlier period of a finer sense of honor, of loftier ideals, of sublimar courage and of more devoted unselfishness than are found in the practical workaday world of today. As a matter of fact, "very gentle and bright," such as Chaucer describes, who rode about with squires, rescuing distressed damsels and redressing wrongs generally, were very few. The age was comparatively a harsh and cruel one. Oppression and violence prevailed, and human rights and justice were little regarded. Poverty was more general and the condition of the poor more abject than anything we know, and the

which is today well nigh universal. People were supposed to bear the ills to which they were born, and all the efforts of a dozen knights in mail and plumed helmets did not go as far toward alleviating misery in a month as do the ministrations of a single visiting nurse now. We live in an age of chivalry vastly expanded. Where there was one worker for others in the knights' days, there are a hundred now, and chivalry permeates the spirit of all the good causes which enlist so many willing hands.

Between the tenth and fourteenth centuries it was but in the bud. Now it is in flower, and later on the full harvest of fruitage will come. There never was a time when there was such universal war against oppression of the weak and helpless, when every form of cruelty was so indignantly frowned upon, when womanhood and childhood were more sturdily championed and protected, when the poor and sick were so tenderly regarded and cared for or when the lower animals were made the object of such solicitude and shelter from harm and suffering. There never was a time when, at peace as we are with all the world, there were more constant exhibitions of quiet, modest courage and splendid heroism than are constantly occurring in the records of our daily lives. In all sorts of accidents—by fire and flood, by the forces of nature, by travel and by the operation of great industries—there is always some one ready, generally some unknown, untried person, to risk his life in order to save others. If that is chivalry there never was such a thing. We do not yet by any means possess all the virtues, but courage and unselfish devotion in times of stress are very good to build on.—Washington Post.

Obesity and Genius.

The question of obesity and genius is a difficult one to solve. It is a question which has troubled the minds of men who toiled and achieved fame under a full halo. Nothing can be more unjust than the gibe about "fat and folly" and fatness and indolence. Martin Luther was as fat as Calvin was thin. Ernest Renan's obesity did not obscure his insight and brilliancy. Many writers and speakers have too long spoken indifferently of fatness, but the best of us have been able to glean in our researches into this weighty subject is that of C. H. Spurgeon, the famous preacher. "People," said Spurgeon, "say I am fat. I am not fat. I am bone and flesh. My limbs, thank God, are amply clothed, and I am in my right mind."—Strand Magazine.

Walking.

Firm, regular steps are said to denote a steady, reliable nature, while jerky, uneven movements indicate the reverse. The energetic person walks quickly and stops suddenly. The dreamer saunters along with slow, abstracted mien. The obstinate man goes straight ahead, refusing to turn aside for anybody. On the other hand, the person who is ready to step out of any one's way is not necessarily weak willed. He may be afflicted with too much courtesy. The long, swinging step usually marks the generous, broad minded person, while the small, petting tread shows the walker to be of a mean and narrow character. This last rule applies, of course, far more to men than to women.

Big Trees.

The tallest tree in the world is the Australian eucalyptus, reaching a total altitude of 480 feet. The biggest are the mammoth trees of California, some of which are 276 to 376 feet in height and 108 feet in circumference at the base. From measurements of the rings it is believed that some of these trees are from 2,000 to 2,500 years old. The oldest tree in the world is said to be on the island of Kos, off the coast of Asia Minor. It is several thousand years old, but just how many no one has dared to say. The tree is carefully preserved by a wall of masonry around it, and the trunk is thirty feet in circumference.—Minneapolis Journal.

OPEN DAY AND NIGHT JUNE 1ST TO JUNE 6TH.

Put Your Money In a New Country

The Pacific Coast extension of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway now under construction, opens to the settler thousands of acres of excellent agricultural land. The new country in Adams, Hettinger, and Bowman Counties, North Dakota, and Butte County, South Dakota, is now reached by the new track. The soil is a dark loam with clay subsoil, and produces in abundance wheat, oats, barley, flax, corn and potatoes. The land is well adapted to farming, good water is found at a depth of from twenty to fifty feet, and the whole country is underlaid with lignite coal that outcrops along the streams, and in most cases can be had for the digging.

The climate is healthful, the air is dry and invigorating, and the percentage of sunny days is high. Outdoor work can be done almost every day in the year. Rainfall is ample sufficient to raise the crops. Regular mail service has been established, the roads are good, rural telephone lines traverse the country, and automobiles are in common use. The deeded land in this district sells for from $10 to $18 per acre. There are many instances this year where the crop equaled in value the cost of the land.

In Butte County, South Dakota, there is considerable government land open for homestead entry. Government land offices are maintained at Lemmon, Hettinger and Bowman, where filings and final proofs may be made. All of these towns are on the new line of the

Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway

In Montana, the new railroad traverses good farming land. It has been demonstrated that big crops of grain may be raised. Along the Yellowstone and Musselshell rivers, the water is used for irrigation, and phenomenal yields of alfalfa, sugar beets, and grain, are always certain. In the Judith Basin near Lewistown, Montana, is one of the most remarkable sections to be found on the new line. Under natural rainfall, the famous bench lands produced this year an average of 35 bushels of hard wheat to the acre, and the price was 94 cents per bushel. The basin contains about 1500 square miles and is sparsely settled. Some government land still remains open for settlement. A government land office is maintained at Lewistown. In Fergus County, outside the Judith Basin, is one of the greatest stock countries in the world, and good ranches can be purchased at a reasonable figure.

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Co. has established an immigration department for the purpose of assisting in the settlement and development of the new lands now being opened. Pamphlets descriptive of its resources will be forwarded free on request.

Before and After.
The same man who pretends that he likes to row a girl for three hours in a hot sun when they are engaged will be found lying in a shady hammock after they are married, while she is getting him something good to eat in a boiling hot kitchen.

Monument to Kenton.
A monument to the memory of Simon Kenton, pioneer Indian fighter, was unveiled at Old Town, 12 miles west of Springfield, O., in the presence of a large crowd. The monument is built of huge boulders suitably engraved and marks the spot where Kenton ran the famous Indian gantlet.

Unhappy Occurrence.
A woman who had just been married, and who was sitting on the porch of her new home, was looking out at the moon and thinking of the old days when she was a single girl.

His Eyeglass.
It was merely a single eyeglass that the young fellow wore, and Uncle Hayrick had never seen one before.

"Jes' look at that!" he exclaimed to his wife under his breath. "What's the meanin' on it, do you think?" she inquired.

"I dno—" she said, maybe, he's buyin' his spectacles on the installment plan."—Pearson's Weekly.

A Mean Suggestion.
A famous London physician was asked out for some shooting. But, though he tried several times, he could not hit a single rabbit.

Some queer Shoes.
We are all familiar with the wooden shoe of the Chinese, with its dark cloth top. The Portuguese shoe has a wooden sole and heel, with a vamp made of leather, fancifully showing the flesh side of the skin. The Persian wears a high shoe made of light wood richly inlaid, with a strap extending over the instep. The Muscovite shoe is hand woven, on a wooden frame, and but little attention is paid to the shape of the foot. Leather is sometimes used, but the sandal is generally made of silk cordage and woven cloth. The Siamese shoe has the form of an ancient canoe, with a gondola bow and an open top. The sole is made of wood, the upper of inlaid wood and cloth, and the exterior is elaborately ornamented in colors with gold and silver.

Sharpness of Lunatics.
Having an appointment to preach at an insane asylum for the first time, a clergyman asked the medical director for some points. He said the most important thing was to avoid any attempt on the part of the preacher to accommodate himself to his audience as if they were different from other people. He said, "If you attempt to adapt yourself to their condition, they will instantly discover it, and they will hate you."

PASSING TO THE LEFT.

An English Custom Which Puzzles When Met in Canada.

When you go abroad you expect to find things different from at home, and you try to take everything as a matter of course. So in England when you learn that railroad trains pass to the left and not to the right, as with us, and when you find that the same rule of the road applies in city streets and country highways and byways, you may be inconvenienced, but you try to remember and get along somehow.

But when you go to Canada and find this left handed state of things existing you are bewildered. There has been no ocean trip to prepare you. You pass from Yankee soil to Canadian soil without knowing when, and somehow you expect to find the ordinary affairs of life moving along as you have been accustomed to.

One day you are in Portland, Me., the next day in St. John, N. B. You face the direction in which you wish to go and stand beside the right hand trolley track waiting for a trolley car. The car comes, but it is going the wrong way—for you. Then you shift to the left.

But the next day when you are out in the country you have forgotten the trolley car episode. You go driving. Another team approaches. You tug gently on the right hand rein, expecting Dobbin or Maude or whatever the beastie's name is to turn out.

But you get no response. On the contrary. The argument is not concluded when the horses stand face to face and the one you are driving says unkind things about you to his brother of the shafts.

By that time you have remembered, and after an apology you proceed.

The matter is especially puzzling, since the driver's seat is on the right. But the Canadians find this handy. There the men do most of the talking, and when two teams are passing the horses are checked and the men find themselves close together.

With us in like case the women have the preferred positions from a conversational standpoint. And that's how it should be.

Railroad trains don't pass to the left in Canada. In fact, they don't pass at all except at sidings. There is only one track.—Washington Post.

Disraeli's Quick Wit.

Benjamin Disraeli when contesting the borough of Shrewsbury on making his first appearance before the electors of that most corrupt old borough was, on account of his Hebrew origin, received with many jeers, etc., a number of men hoisting pieces of pork upon pitchforks, shouting out "tra-la-ti-ti-ti," and such as, "Bare a bit of this!" "Why wait till the excited mob had cooled down, the future prime minister, equal to any occasion, addressed them, saying, "Ladies and gentlemen, I now feel sure of being your accepted candidate, for as I look to the right or the left or look before me I see offers of hospitality on every side." Needless to say, he was returned with a great majority.—Exchange.

"Crossing the Bar."

This is the story of how Tennyson came to write his beautiful "Crossing the Bar." He had been very ill, and one day when he was convalescent he was sitting grumbling. Suddenly his nurse said to him, "You ought to be ashamed of yourself, Mr. Tennyson; you ought to be expressing your gratitude for your recovery from a very bad illness by giving us something by giving it to the world."

He went out and straightway wrote "Crossing the Bar" and brought it to the nurse as a peace offering.—London News.

The Red Cross.

The honor of conceiving the ideas out of which the Red Cross society grew belongs to Henri Dunant, a French humanitarian. The first practical inception of Dunant's purpose was made by the Geneva Society of Public Utility. They interested the officials of the Swiss government, and with General Dufour of the Swiss army as its leader, a committee was appointed Feb. 9, 1863, to give impetus to the movement. The result was the Geneva conference of 1864 and the Red Cross society.—New York American.

Austria-Hungary.

By the results of the war of 1848 Hungary became virtually an Austrian province, but it was not until the year 1867 that the dualistic system of the Austro-Hungarian government was established. On Feb. 20 of that year a responsible ministry was formed under the presidency of Andrássy, and in the following June the Austrian emperor and empress were crowned king and queen of Hungary at Budapest.

Sharpness of Lunatics.

Having an appointment to preach at an insane asylum for the first time, a clergyman asked the medical director for some points. He said the most important thing was to avoid any attempt on the part of the preacher to accommodate himself to his audience as if they were different from other people. He said, "If you attempt to adapt yourself to their condition, they will instantly discover it, and they will hate you."

SUN SILHOUETTES.

Seldom seen in this country, the specter of the Broken is of some what common occurrence in the Harz mountains, Germany, whence it takes its name. There the summit of Blocksberg, rising to a height of more than 3,000 feet, is almost continually enveloped in mist, on which the parallel rays of the sun, low down on the western horizon, throw strange and uncanny shadows of men, animals and other objects. As the screen of mist on which these shadows are projected changes its position in the varying currents of air the weird sun silhouettes seem to be endowed with motion, increasing and diminishing in size as the mist curtain recedes from and approaches the object casting the shadow, giving rise to many fantastic and grotesque appearances.

Some years ago the writer was one of a party of five to cross Mount Washington, New Hampshire, and was so fortunate as to witness this specter in all its weird distinctness. We had left Mount Washington behind and were following the bridge path over Mount Monroe just as the sun was reaching the level of the western hills. At our left a dense, shifting bank of mist swayed backward and forward, at times almost enveloping us in its moist embrace and again swirling away so far as to disclose faint outlines of crag and summit to the eastward.

Suddenly emerging from behind a ridge, we came into the full glare of the setting sun, and one after another each member of the party saw its figure silhouetted distinctly on the semitransparent veil of mist. Trudging as we were in single file, each shadow was projected separately and framed in a brilliant circle of prismatic colors. The head, feet and finger tips of each person when the arms were extended at full length touched the inner edge of the rainbow circle. Every peculiarity of outline was faithfully duplicated, even to knapsacks and long staffs carried by the party, and as the light air moved the mist bank farther away the silhouettes grew in size from that of nearly normal to heroic stature. Always the halo of prismatic light encircled us, but became less brilliant as its size increased.

As the party came together their shadows merged into one, encircled by a single rainbow frame. The unusual phenomenon lasted many minutes, disappearing suddenly as the sun sank.—W. J. Scandlin in Boston Post.

Origin of the Maypoles.

"May day ceremonies were not in origin a mere sign of rejoicing that the leaves were on the trees again and the flowers blooming once more," says J. Ernest Ryland in his "Traditions in Nature, Myth and Art." "They were religious observances, believed to secure the blessing the spirit could bestow. The spirit that inhabited the tree inhabited also the Maypole taken from the tree, and the dance round the Maypole was a religious ceremony. The May queen and Jack-in-the-green were in origin human forms of the tree spirit. The belief that the Maypole insured fertility is not yet extinct in Europe, and in some parts of Germany on May day the peasants set up May trees at the doors of stable and cowbyre, a tree for each horse and cow, to insure fertility and that the cows will give plenty of milk."

An Ancient Drinking Game.

Drinking bouts have been accompanied among all peoples by curious diversions. Cottabus is the most classical, having been in vogue over most parts of the ancient world. The player lay on a couch and without moving his position attempted to throw from his goblet a few drops of wine at a mark in a high curve without spilling any of the liquor. The mark consisted generally of a little image of Hermes, placed on a bronze saucer, which sometimes floated on water, so that until it was filled by a sufficient quantity of wine to sink it the game continued. To play cottabus well was a mark of good breeding in Athens.—Harper's.

Evicting Corpses.

"It is bad enough to evict live people, but to evict corpses does seem hard."

"They never evict corpses?" "Don't they? You wouldn't say that if you knew Porto Rico. In the native cemeteries of Porto Rico it is a common occurrence to see a hard hearted landlord evict with a shovel a corpse whose rent has not been paid."

"You see, they don't sell lots in those cemeteries. They only rent them, and they who don't come down with their annual rental promptly are apt to suffer the mortification and grief of seeing their dead turned out."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

"Pittsburgh Perfect" Fences

For some time we have been investigating a New Idea in Wire Fencing. After a most careful examination we have been convinced that we have found the best field fence manufactured. "Pittsburgh Perfect" is made of all galvanized steel wires. It is the only fence welded by electricity. Every rod is guaranteed perfect. All large wires, the stays being the same size as line wires. It has no wraps to hold moisture and cause rust.

If You Are Looking for a Fence

That will stand HARD USAGE:
That will not SAG DOWN or CURL OVER on the top;
That has stays that WILL NOT SLIP;
That will CONFORM TO UNEVEN GROUND;
That has no SLACK WIRES;
That does not require an EXPERT TO ERECT;
That is LOW IN PRICE.

Then Read What We Guarantee

1. The stays are ELECTRICALLY WELDED to strands, forming a perfect union and an amalgamation with the strands not found in any other fence.
2. No wraps to get loose, or hold moisture and cause rust.
3. No projections to injure stock or tear wool from sheep.
4. Stronger at the joints than any other fence; welded together by electricity.
5. Guaranteed that the wires are not injured at the joints.
6. Guaranteed adjustable to uneven ground.
7. Guaranteed that stays will not separate from strands.
8. Guaranteed all right in every particular.
9. Made by the most modern process and on the latest improved machinery.
10. Most of the weak points in other fences are on account of the way the stays are fastened. Our stays are amalgamated with the strands by means of electricity and the strength of the fence increased a hundred fold over the strength of a fence where the stays are wrapped or clamped on the strands.

If by this time you are interested, come and see this fence and get in your order. If you are skeptical come and be convinced.

We add our personal guarantee to everything claimed for it and would be pleased to submit prices.

Don't fail to see us before buying your fencing. Don't put it off until you are ready to use it, but place your order in advance, as we cannot carry all sizes in stock.

Religion in the College. Men learn that religion is not a system of philosophy or a secret society, but an impulse and an endeavor to make this present world a better place to live in. That, so far as I can learn, is the heart of the religious life of the American college. It beats true and in time with the heart of the Christian gospel.—Outlook.

A HARD WON BET.

Carrying Four Bricks Half a Mile Is Not an Easy Task.

"The hardest won bet I ever made," remarked the traveling man as he shook the ash off his cigar, "was to carry four bricks half a mile. That sounds like a simple thing to do, doesn't it? Well, you try it and you will find out whether it is or not. Of course the manner of carrying the bricks is important. A man bet me that I couldn't carry two bricks in each hand from where we were back to the hotel and put them up on the counter. The bricks were to be put side by side and grasped, two in each hand, between the thumb and fingers, the fingers pointing down. I was not allowed to stop and rest nor to put the bricks down.

"Well, thought I, that's $2 easily earned, so I took the bet and started. For a quarter of the distance it was easy, and I already felt that $2 in my pocket. But then my fingers began to grow tired. The muscles between my forefingers and thumbs were soon aching terribly. My arms began to pain me and to throb like mad. I found myself setting my teeth together, and the cords in my neck were in a high state of tension. When I came within a hundred yards of the hotel there was scarcely an inch in my whole body that was not aching, as if I had been stuck full of pins.

"I don't know how I managed to go that last little distance. I could no longer stand erect, and I was trembling like a leaf, and yet the other fellow was alongside, laughing as if to split his sides. And when I got into the hotel it was all I could do to raise first one hand and then the other and put the bricks on the counter. I know that I couldn't have gone fifty feet farther. I got the $2, but the next day I could scarcely move, and I didn't get over the soreness for a week. It looks easy, but just you try it!"—Detroit Free Press.

FINGER PRINTS.

Using Them as Signatures Is a Very Old Practice.

Finger print registration is in some respects a very ancient practice in Asia. In old Japan the mikado sealed documents of state by smearing his forefinger with vermilion ink and impressing it on the paper. To prevent passports being transferred, the Chinese wrote the permission to travel on an oiled paper bearing a print of the bearer's palm of the hand. Deeds disposing of land were similarly stamped by the vendor's thumb. In India as long ago as 1860 Sir William Herschel instituted a system of finger prints at Hooghly as the directest and most certain means of identifying the parties in the transfer of land in Bengal and of preventing them from false personation or repudiation of the bargain by requiring them to affix their finger prints to the entries in the land register.

It was Sir William Herschel's use of this old-oriental practice which led Francis Galton to take up the study of finger prints as a means of identification. By research and the examination of thousands of finger prints Mr. Galton raised the practice into a science and first drew public attention to its possibilities by an article in the Nineteenth Century in 1891. A few years later it was adopted by both the government and postoffice of India as a means of establishing identification beyond dispute, a matter of the utmost difficulty with natives, whose faces always appear as like as two peas to European eyes.

Military and civil pensioners must now finger print the receipts for their pensions, and the impression must correspond with that in the register, before payment is made. Medical certificates are similarly rendered useless to bearer, and candidates sitting for civil service examinations must finger print each set of papers they hand in. Indians emigrating under the labor act also impress their thumb on their engagement contracts, and pilgrims setting out for Mecca are likewise given an identity they cannot deny.—London Chronicle.

A Lost Band.

A Scotch story is of a diminutive drummer in a local brass band who was in the habit when out parading with his comrades of walking by sound and not by sight, owing to his drum being so high that he was unable to see over it. The band on Saturday afternoon paraded usually in one direction, but one day the leader thought he would change the route a little and turned down a bystreet. The drummer, unaware of this movement, kept on his accustomed way, drumming as hard as ever he could. By and by, after finishing his part and not hearing the others, he stopped and, pushing his drum to one side, looked to see what was the matter. His astonishment may be imagined at finding that he was alone. "Hae!" he cried to some bystanders. "Has any o' ye seen a band hereabout?"

Willing to Be Convicted.
A sturdy tramp one day went into a suburban garden where the lady of the house was engaged in attending to the flowers. He took no notice of her refusal to give coppers, but continued his importunity until a bulldog appeared, growling ominously. The lady seized it by the collar and held it, calling out:

"You had better go away at once. He may bite you."
"You ain't got no right to keep a savage dog like that," replied the tramp in outraged tones.
"Perhaps I have not," was the cool answer. "If you think so, I won't keep him—I'll let him go."
The latch of the gate clicked violently, and in twenty seconds that tramp had vanished into space.

His Family Tree.

"Young man," said the farmer, "I must say you've done a heap o' talkin' about yer family tree. Anybody would think you owned a whole timber yard. Come out into the lane a minute."

The youth in golf clothes accompanied him.

Fausting by a weeping willow, the farmer said, "I want you to take particular notice of this."

"What for?"
"That's our family tree. That's what has lightened our ideals and stimulated our energies. That has furnished switches for four or five generations of us."—Exchange.

Japanese Women.
High or low, gentle or simple, the Japanese wife is above reproach, the incarnation of faithfulness and devotion—magnificent in her loyalty to the duties of her state.—Fortnightly Review.
